An aerial photograph of a white luxury yacht named Alexia, viewed from above. The yacht is oriented diagonally across the frame, with its bow at the top left and stern at the bottom right. A cutaway section reveals the interior, which is elegantly furnished with light-colored wood paneling, cream-colored leather seating, and a dining table. The deck is equipped with various nautical instruments, including two large white spherical radar domes at the stern and a yellow buoy at the bow. The yacht is set against a backdrop of deep blue, shimmering water. In the bottom left corner, a white seagull is captured in flight, its wings spread wide.
